

From: Josh Simmons
To: Microsoft ATR
Date: 1/23/02 2:06pm
Subject: Microsoft Settlement

For a fair and just conclusion to the Microsoft Settlement, I feel Microsoft should have to provide restitution in the form of competitors products. They should provide to federal, state and county institutions and schools products such as hardware from Apple Computer, Sun Microsystems, SGI and Novel, as well as software from Apple Computer, Oracle, Netscape and Britannica.

Any donations, contributions and or reduced rate sales of Microsoft hardware and or software would only further their monopoly in the computer hardware and software markets.

These are my opinions, comments and suggestions on the matter of the Microsoft monopoly.

--

Josh Simmons
Reno, NV